Tim O'Neill
Mentor

Tim O'Neill:

Tim's strategic business planning skills have seen him build several highly successful businesses. He was the director of a growing financial planning firm which today has more than 80 offices throughout Australia. Tim successfully built a funds management company.

Tim is a fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants and serves on numerous boards. His insight and analytical abilities have seen him serve in government and private enterprises, as well as not for profit organisations, helping them to develop successful strategies and vision for growth.

In 1995 Tim and his wife were dramatically impacted by the suicides of eight people they knew through work and their local community. This motivated Tim to set up New Directions, a very successful community church that helps people to not only find life balance, but also to find and pursue their life purpose.

To this end, Tim and Sharon have successfully conceived and built, and are currently managing, a landmark entertainment and business centre in Riverside, Launceston on the banks of the Tamar River. This state-of-the-art hub is home to 4 different businesses that positively impact the people and community of Launceston in different ways.

Tim is passionate about raising up leaders who will positively change the world. Tim is very effective in mentoring and teaching leaders who want to achieve success and realise true significance, both in Australia and overseas.

Tim's current roles include Board member of Empart Australia and Empart International (a not for profit company, formerly called Compassion for India).

Tim is happily married to Sharon and they live with their three children in Launceston, Tasmania.
